PRAYING FOR DIOCESE "YEAR OF PRAYER"

Kiltimagh is the focus parish of our prayer for this week. Joe got five talents. John got two talents. And I, Jim, what do I get, just one talent, one miserable talent. What can I do with one talent! Nothing, so I'll do nothing. Instead of looking at the positive side and rejoicing in the fact that he had received a talent, Jim made comparisons, others got more than he did, he felt cheated and decided not to bother using the talent he had received, in fact, he did worse, he buried it. If I look with envy at the talents of others, I give more attention to the limitations rather than the possibilities of my life. I can only work with the talents and gifts I have been given but I must work with them, not ignore them or bury them. Talents are given to be used, to be developed, to be shared, to help in building the kingdom of God. God invests in us, not to see his talents buried, not to hear us off-loading our own responsibilities by blaming others, not to see us cringe helplessly and uselessly in fear, or to be rendered inactive by false humility. God's desire is to be able one day to congratulate us on a job well done and to reward us with the happiness of heaven. [Adapted from Denis McBride and Sylvester O'Flynn] We are praying for our diocese because through prayer we will come to know how the Lord plans to use our gifts and talents for renewal in our hearts, our parishes and our diocese.

PARISH PASTORAL COUNCILS

Pastoral Councils have been in place in many parishes for a considerable length of time. Their contribution has been very positive. However, the landscape within which they now operate is very different from that of the time they were first set up. The changing needs of parishes today see new and different demands being placed upon our Pastoral Councils. The Fr. Peyton Parish Cluster has invited Fr. Eugene Duffy to address the issue at a talk on Thursday, November 20th at 8.00pm in the Father Peyton Centre in Attymass. The talk is open to members of all Pastoral Councils within the diocese to attend.

PLEASE NOTE THE TIME!

The Remembrance Service takes place next Sunday evening in St Patrick's Church, Glann. It begins at 6pm. (Wrong time included in last week's bulletin). All are welcome. If you have a name for inclusion, please let us know by Wednesday.
