33rd Sunday in Ordinary Time – 17th November 2013

STONE ON STONE

Within walking distance of Ground Zero, New York, is found a memorial to the victims of the Irish Famine. It's an amazing piece of work. It is a fallen down cottage, nested on a little hill that gives life to hungry rushes, patches of grass and all that is familiar to anyone who has ever wandered through, never mind lived in rural Ireland. It's so real. The cottage, taken stone by stone, from a townland in the parish of Attymass, Co. Mayo was re-birthed in its adopted surrounds of Battery Park, New York. Re-birthed like so many who travelled from Mayo and the other 31 counties of our country in search of new life and hope. As they went, they left the cottages behind and, in the words of another tune; "Castles tall, houses small, left alone, all fall down"

Surely that's what Jesus is talking about in today's Gospel passage. The admired temple, it too without love and left alone, will fall in on itself. It is truly dependant on people's love – literally the movement of feet in prayerful attendance to keep it alive, relevant and fresh in the hearts and minds of people. If just looked at from a distance, admired as a piece of art, its full potential will not be reached.

That house in Attymass was once a temple. Its kitchen table, the altar – its s rooms the sacristy, its door the entrance to a place of prayer and worship. Its floor the concrete kneeling board where family prayer found its launch and, its family, the congregation called to faithful service and mission. It emptied though, hunger and death – worry and emigration took a lasting toll.

Is there, as we near the end of the Church's Year of Faith, a call here to protect the building, not just admire it – to be partakers not just onlookers .... Is there a need for the imaginative and creative eye that can see us in a better setting where the story can be told?

Like the Mayo Cottage, the church in which we now gather has a story to tell. As long as we gather to hear and share that story it will be safe, solid and present - for in our gathering it is not left alone, it is not unloved – it lives and breathes.

PLEASE PRAY FOR

We remember at this time; Michael Tommy Egan, Culliagh, Bernadette Curtin nee Leneham Jersey and late of Shammer, sister of Paddy Lenehan, Shammer and Joe (Josie) Horkan, Leeds and late of Glann, brother of Michael John, Glann. We pray for all whose anniversaries occur around this time. May they rest in peace.

TROCAIRE APPEAL

Throughout Ireland, this weekend, we are being asked to assist, insofar as possible, the stricken people of Syria and The Philippines. Trocaire takes its name from the Irish word for Mercy so, in its name, we offer our parish and personal support at this time. Thank you for your contribution. If you missed the collection this weekend, you may leave a donation with either priest and it will be included in the forwarded total.

COMMUNITY ALERT EGM

An E.G.M of Kilmovee/Urlaur Community Alert Group will take place on Tuesday 26th November at 8pm in Kilmovee Community Centre. At the AGM on the 29th October there was only one person apart from the committee present. The committee has been in place for the last 6 years and the members are of the opinion that a new committee is required and some of them are standing down. The Community Alert group is a vital service to our community and must be kept operational at all cost. We appeal to village representatives and other volunteers to attend the E.G.M. Unfortunately, if the committee's appeal is unheeded, the Community Alert group may cease to operate in our area. This would be a disaster for our senior citizens, neighbours and children.

Now, a small team of current members, helped by the Heritage Society, have been busy putting together an exhibition and audio visual presentation showing hundreds of historical photos, news cuttings, programmes and other memorabilia. The 100 Years of Drama event runs in the Town Hall Arts Centre, Charlestown, on Saturday, November 23rd and Sunday, November 24th, from 3pm until 6pm each day. Running as part of The Gathering, the exhibition will also include the unveiling of a special tribute to the producer and director behind so many of the Society's successful productions, the late Paddy Henry.
