Easter Sunday – 20th April 2014

Kilmovee, Urlaur, Kilkelly and Glann This IS

Dear Parishioners,

May we, as priests of this parish, wish you all a Blessed and Peaceful Easter Day. This truly is a day of joy. A day that speaks to the bereaved and lonely of hope beyond the grave. A day that speaks to the fallen and broken of the possibility of redemption and fresh hope. A day that speaks to the worried about peace of mind, the despairing about fresh opportunity and to the doubtful about the open door that is “faith”. It is, in short, a good day - a God-given day - a day to be cherished. It is the Christian’s Day and, as such, a day to be shared with all and for all. We pray then, with and for each other, with and for those who might not be able to pray or have no desire to pray - that with the centurion at the foot of the Cross, we may see and help others to see that “in truth, this man is a Son of God”.

May the Risen Christ remain always in your hearts,

Vincent and John.

YEAR OF PRAYER remembering PARISH OF GURTEEN

Gurteen Parish, comprises the three church areas of Gurteen, Cloonloo and Killaraght. Historically called the parish of Kilfree and Killaraght from the combining in 1851 of the two, until then, independent parishes. St Patrick's Church, Gurteen was built in 1866, St. Joseph's Church, Cloonloo in 1873, and St. Attracta's, Killaraght in 1875. The name Killaraght is from the Gaelic, Cill Attract. There is an ancient St. Attracta's Well (on the Boyle-Frenchpark Road). Situated in the half-barony of Coolavin, whose chiefs came from the O'Gara family, their seat was at Moygara Castle. In the 17th century Fergal O'Gara was the patron of The Four Masters. There are five historical cemeteries: Killaraght old cemetery (Boyle - Frenchpark Road), Templeronan (by the Cloonloo shore of Lough Gara), Carrauntemple, (Kilfree area) containing replicas of ancient grave slabs, Mount Irwin (in the direction of Tubbercurry) and Gurteen, which contains the ruin of the Protestant church. There are three primary schools Carn NS, Mullaghroe NS and St. Ronan's NS, Cloonloo. There are approximately 500 households in the whole parish. Gurteen is a noted centre for Traditional Irish music, which is promoted at the Ceoláras Coleman Visitor Centre, Auditorium and Archive. Fr. Joe Caulfield is the parish priest of Gurteen

MONTH'S MIND MASS

There will be a Month's Mind Mass for Kathleen O'Donnell, Cloonamna on Saturday April 26th at 12noon in Brusna Church.

"SIGN UP SUNDAY"

Last weekend we asked people to sign up for ministries in the parish. To be honest, not a resounding success!!! Possibly Palm Sunday was not the best day for this. The hope remains, nonetheless, that we might add some names to our present lists of Readers, Counters, Church Care members etc. The cards are still available and we encourage you to consider taking one, filling in and returning to us in the coming weeks.

"BUT WHY WOULD I READ?"

Or be involved in a Parish Ministry ... This is quite likely a question some might ask. There is no set answer other than it is good to be involved. It is a sign of hope and an indication of the commitment level of people to put themselves forward in the service of the parish and community. Furthermore, it is good for a person's confidence to be able to stand in front of his or her neighbours, speak God's Word and witness to the Faith. This would seem to be something very positive and would, it's fair to say, indicate a strength of character that is always a desirable asset.

HOLY WEEK CEREMONIES

As we celebrate Easter 2014, it is a good time to thank all who have been involved in our Parish Liturgies this week. Thanks to sacristans, choir members (and directors), Ministers of The Word, Eucharistic Ministers, those who cared for the churches and helped prepare them so beautifully, to collectors, counters, Altar Servers and anyone who, in any way, helped out this week. May the Risen Lord reward you for your commitment, dedication and willingness to involve yourself during the week - and, for that matter, at all times.

DAWN MASS

If you're reading this on Easter Sunday, chances are you missed the Dawn Mass or were at it. If you're reading on Saturday night, why not consider joining us in the morning for Mass at 6am on the Sacred Ground that is Urlaur Abbey. We will gather around 5.45am and begin Mass at 6. Many thanks to all who have worked to light the way for us and make all ready.

KILMOVEE ROTAS

The rotas for Readers and Ministers of the Eucharist will be finalised in the coming week, please God. If you are considering becoming a Reader, it would be good to have your name as soon as possible for inclusion. Once finalised we will circulate the rotas and publish them on the Parish Website www.kilmoveeparish.com

MINISTRIES RETREAT

An evening of prayer is currently being arranged for all involved in Parish Ministry within our Cluster of Parishes. It will take place in Kilmovee and will be directed by Fr John Durkan (Killasser Parish) Further details later.

OK AFTER 10K!!

Hope all who were involved in the 10k, as organisers, participants or both are happy and well after the event. Well done everybody!
