Second Sunday of Lent - 21st February 2016

We're into the second week of Lent now. How is it going? Have there been slips? Chances are, there have been some ... As they say so often at meetings: "Where to from here?"

At the third station of the Cross, we reflect on the first fall of Jesus. Though it's not recorded as such in Scripture, it's certain there were moments on the Calvary Road when Jesus collapsed beneath the uninvited and equally undeserved weight of the cross.

Jesus falls for the first time.

Falls are uncomfortable and unsettling. The ground is never welcome and we prefer to be on our feet. The fall has its place though, it reminds us of our fragility and weakness. It speaks to us of seeking help and support that feet may be found again. There's a need to reach out to others – to God – for guidance. The helping hand is never more welcome.

So, on this Second Sunday of Lent, fallen or not let us trust in the "helping hand" and not be afraid to seek its gentle and guiding way.

As mentioned the diocese is organising 24 Hours for the Lord as part of a "WEEKEND OF MERCY". This takes place 11th-13th March with 24 hours adoration planned for each parish from Friday 11th-Saturday 12th and a pilgrimage to the Cathedral in Ballaghaderreen on Sunday 13th. We will have our Parish Adoration in Glann Church from 8pm on Friday to the Vigil Mass on Saturday. In next week's bulletin we will have more details and will have a "SIGN UP" sheet available. It is hoped that we will have many volunteers to take an "hour for The Lord" as part of this Diocesan initiative. We invite some of our younger parishioners and families to consider becoming involved too. All are welcome.
