Thirteenth Sunday of the Year - 26th June 2016

TO THE MAN AFTER THE HARROW

Now leave the check-reins slack,
the seed is flying far today -
the seed like stars against the black eternity of April clay.

This seed is potent as the seed
of knowledge in the Hebrew Book,
so drive your horses in the creed
of God the Father as a stook.

Forget the men on Brady's Hill.
forget what Brady's boy may say.
for destiny will not fulfil
unless you let the harrow play.

Forget the worm's opinion too
of hooves and pointed harrow-pins,
for you are driving your horses through the mist where Genesis begins.

This poem was written by the poet Patrick Kavanagh for a neighbour who was being ordained a priest.

It's lovely to think he used his talent - his gift, to offer support and advice to the newly ordained in this way. He seems to be encouraging him to have belief in the "plough" and the horse and not to feel he has to keep a tight grip of the reins. The horse has been in this field before. He knows what has to be done.

There's a good line too about not being fearful of what people say but rather believing in what he has to say. To have this belief will call on him, at times, to say what might not be welcome but, since it's true, has to be said.

Jesus is on the same lines this weekend. He's calling people to the plough and saying once the hand is put there, it's not a time for looking back. There is work to be done and workers are needed.

TELLUS SURVEY

The Tellus survey, collecting the latest geological information across Ireland, is due to commence its next airborne surveying phase over counties Galway, Mayo and neighbouring parts of Roscommon, Offaly, Clare and Tipperary from early June 2016. The survey involves an aircraft flying at a low height (60m). The sound of the plane is similar to that of a passing lorry; however it may startle sensitive animals such as horses, pedigree cattle, sheep-in-lamb and poultry flocks. Ground sampling of counties May, west Galway and north Clare has already commenced and will run through to the autumn months. Samplers – who work in pairs and carry I.D. - will be collecting soil and stream samples. If you have concerns, particularly if you own sensitive livestock, you can contact the Tellus Freephone information line on 1800 303 516 or visit www.tellus.ie
