Seeking God's Mercy

"Do you wish to receive God's mercy?

Then, show mercy and love to your neighbour." St John Chrysostom

Often those caught up in destructive lifestyles, drug abuse or a gambling addiction for example, come in contact with their need for God much more quickly than those who have managed to avoid these vices. Does this mean we have to experience these lifestyles to experience God's mercy? By no means! We need the wisdom of the Spirit, which gives us the self-knowledge and the insight to understand that we are sinners in dire need of God's healing grace to help us live a good and righteous life. When we experience this grace, we are recipients not of harsh judgement but of God's loving mercy and the gift of forgiveness. We know the joy of conversion and the prayer of our heart is: "Lord, but for your grace go I. Lord, have mercy on me a sinner."
